(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Copenhagen, July 26.—The revolt of Nikolai Lenin in Petrograd, and the activities of his followers at the front, brought into prominence the connection between this party and the German government, to which the Associated Press repeatedly referred when the "Russian peace angels" were being sped homeward through Germany by the government.

Petrograd dispatches indicate an attempt to use agents who act as mediators of communication and paymaster.

Parvus German Agent.

One of the most prominent of these traitors in Copenhagen is Dr. H. H. Parvus, known in German circles under the pseudonym of Parvus, of Russian birth. The Associated Press correspondent at the council of war during the Russian revolution in 1905, at that time his name was associated with rumors of irregularities with the council's funds.

He next appeared as published for Maxim Gorky, with whom he also had financial disputes. Helfand became a member of the council of war during the Russian revolution in 1905, at that time his name was associated with rumors of irregularities with the council's funds.

Russia's Collapse Appalling.
London, July 26.—An appalling blow is the description of the Russian collapse given in a dispatch from Petrograd to the post. Never in the history of Russia has there been such a complete and sudden collapse of the Russian empire. British and French guns and airplanes, flying machines, aviators, and British armored cars were added to the Russian army. The Russian army was defeated in a series of battles, and the Russian government was forced to flee to the east.

Information regarding the guns of the 11th army, almost all of which were captured by the enemy, is being sent down their own gunners in order to get their horses or shot down the gun. The Russian army is being defeated in a series of battles, and the Russian government is being forced to flee to the east.

To Inflict Death Penalty.
Petrograd, July 26.—The command-in-chief and the commander of the various armies at the front have insisted that restoration of discipline in the army be maintained. The Russian army is being defeated in a series of battles, and the Russian government is being forced to flee to the east.

The inquiry into the recent disorders here is being continued under the supervision of the public prosecutor, and the authorities are taking measures to discover and bring to justice all organizers of and participants in the revolt.

Rumanian Victory.
Rumanian forces captured in Tuesday's and Wednesday's battle on the Rumanian front more than 10,000 Russian prisoners, says the official statement issued today by the Rumanian war department. The Rumanians also took thirty-three guns, seventeen machine guns, ten anti-aircraft guns, and much heavy material.

On the same front, the statement said, the Russians also captured about ten thousand prisoners and twenty-four guns.

POWER, PLEADS WITH TROOPS AT FRONT TO AVERT DISASTER

Two views of Kerensky at the Russian front just before the recent drive in Galicia. Arrow points to Kerensky in the larger picture.

Alexander Kerensky, heralded as the Napoleon of the New Russia, has once more gone to the front to stem the tide of disaster which threatens to overwhelm the newest democracy.

One of the most prominent of these traitors in Copenhagen is Dr. H. H. Parvus, known in German circles under the pseudonym of Parvus, of Russian birth. The Associated Press correspondent at the council of war during the Russian revolution in 1905, at that time his name was associated with rumors of irregularities with the council's funds.

FRENCH SHIPS EVADE
SUBMARINE ATTACKS

Paris, July 26.—During the week ending midnight July 25, not a single French vessel, either over or under 1,000 tons, was lost, according to an official statement issued yesterday. Six French merchantmen were attacked unsuccessfully during that time by submarines. Ships of all nationalities numbering 1,063 entered port and 837 departed.

Rome, July 26.—Two Italian steamers were sunk and one small sailing vessel was damaged during the week ending midnight July 25, says an official announcement issued yesterday. Five hundred ninety-three vessels with a gross tonnage of 398,815 arrived and 550 of a tonnage of 403,450 left port.

American Ship Sunk.
London, July 26.—The American sailing vessel Augustus Weit was sunk last Saturday. The crew was saved. No details of the sinking have been received.

The Augustus Weit was a wooden vessel of 221 tons. She was owned by Reed of Waldoboro, Me. Its port of registry was Boston.

WOUNDED MAN SAVES
VICTIM OF U-BOAT

Paris, July 26.—The newest member of the Legion of Honor is Private Charles Collet, who despite the amputation of his leg risked his life to save a child who was drowning when the steamer La Madjerda was torpedoed. Collet plunged into the water, rescued the child, and by his coolness and courage set an example for others that materially aided the rescue work.

The French passenger steamer La Madjerda was sunk by a submarine while voyaging between Oran city, in Algeria, and Marseilles. The survivors were picked up and taken to the port of Marseilles. The steamer was a vessel of 1,918 gross tons.

PUBLISH WORD FROM THE ITALIAN MISSION

Washington, July 26.—Messages passing between President Wilson and the Prince of Udine, on the occasion of the safe return home of the Italian mission were published today by the White House. The prince told of having made his report to King Victor Emmanuel and transmitted the king's sentiment of appreciation and thanks.

The president replied fittingly, expressing the appreciation of the American people for the mission's visit.

LIGHTS ON WRIST JUMPING
IN PROGRAM AT PICNIC; BOY
SUFFERS EXCOURCIATING PAIN

Participating in the high jump feature of the athletic events at the Park yesterday, after several hours spent in swimming, an unknown youth lost his balance in the air and plunging head forward alighted heavily on his right wrist. He failed and was carried into the shade and later fainted several times. His wrist seemed to be badly injured, as he constantly cried out with pain.

Report that a young girl had been nearly drowned while bathing and was rescued with difficulty was another startling feature of the day which proved groundless. The child in question sat down in the water, which was hardly knee deep, and became hysterical when she could not rise quickly, but was in no danger, and half an hour afterwards was enjoying herself as much as ever.

American Soldiers Are Apt Pupils of Poilus Near French Front—British in Successful Raid.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Paris, July 26.—The German assaults were reopened last night along a front of about two miles on the Aisne front from a point east of Hurbise to Labovelle. The French official statement issued this morning says that at the cost of tremendous losses the Germans were able to penetrate certain elements of the French first line trenches.

North of Auberville, in the Champagne, the French penetrated German trenches, the statement says, and inflicted heavy losses. On other parts of the Champagne front the artillery bombardment was intense. Fighting lasted all night, the French repelling every attack of the Germans.

The Germans also renewed their assault on French positions at Hurbise farm, but the attacks broke down under trench fire of the French.

The reciprocal artillery fire on the left bank of the river Meuse, in the Verdun region, was maintained with the usual violence.

First American Casualty.
With American Forces in France, July 26.—The first field casualty among the American forces occurred today. A soldier became an involuntary victim in regard to the construction of a live French bomb among the supplies brought to camp for training purposes. He extracted the safety pin in some manner and very soon thereafter a loud explosion occurred. Fortunately for the soldier, the bomb did not carry a charge of full battle strength, but he would have been blown to pieces. As it was he escaped with the loss of his right hand.

At every vantage point near the camp near Hurbise, the men in high spirits today drilling, marching and digging side by side. Field maneuvers were in progress at several places, while from more distant points came the rattling of machine guns. Musketry practice was being held, and on every hand was activity which was most impressive.

The French and American soldiers seem to enjoy their association thoroughly. The French frankly admire the attitude of their enthusiastic pupils. Visits to the French front up to the front line are frequent.

British Raid Successful.
London, July 26.—We made a successful raid last night southeast of Arras, says today's official report. "There is nothing else of special interest."

German Statement.
Berlin, July 26.—Dominating positions on the Aisne front northwest of Hurbise were captured today by the Germans, the war office announced. French tanks were destroyed, 900 meters and 400 meters deep south of Aisne were stormed, the statement says.

TURTLE LAKE UNION TO HOLD BIG PICNIC SUNDAY

Every citizen of Janesville and of the entire county is invited to attend the annual outing of the Turtle Lake Union, a farmers' organization, to be held next Sunday at Crystal Springs. Steamers will convey guests from this point to the springs, and a big program of races and contests has been planned for the day. The men who have planned the affair want it to be a real "get-together" community picnic, and assure a good time for everyone who attends.

WOULD FIGHT BATTER

"Bill" Cronin, Spring Brook, was an interested spectator at the ball game between the Fairbanks-Morse American Giants vs. the Janesville Red Sox at the butcher and grocers place yesterday. He stood too near the base line. One of the colored Beloiters hit a liner and before the Janesville boy could dodge, the ball beamed him directly behind the right ear. He was several minutes later that Cronin regained consciousness. Then he wanted to lick the "nigger."

CASE AGAINST FONTANA MAN
ADJOURNED; ILLNESS CAUSE

Action of the state of Wisconsin against Lee Sperry, Fontana young man, arrested two weeks ago yesterday morning for driving an automobile while intoxicated and scheduled to come up in municipal court this morning was adjourned when the defendant's attorney conveyed to the court the fact that because of the serious illness of Sperry's wife and her subsequent removal to Chicago for an operation Sperry was unable to appear. Judge and State's Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie agreed to the postponement.

Venizelos Says Greece
Is Definitely In War;
Look to U. S. for Aid

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Athens, July 26.—On the eve of the assembling of parliament, Premier Venizelos received a correspondent of the Associated Press and made the statement:

"The reassembling of parliament, which was dismissed by arbitrary action of Constantine, is a formal recognition of democratic government and rule of the people in line with the ideals and principles of which the United States gives a conspicuous example. Macedonia has been a royal autocrat ruling by divine right of kings and not responsible to the people, but rather a constitutional monarchy in which authority is exercised within strict limits."

"We look to the United States for continuance of powerful support in working out our destinies. Greece is now allied with the central powers. Relations with the central powers have been broken and a state of war now actually exists, as Greek troops are fighting against the central powers. A formal declaration of war was made by the provisional government and it is unnecessary to renew it."

"The rearmament of the Greek army and cooperation with Serbia will restore the Balkan forces to their proper role of defenders of the integrity of the Balkans. France and other protectors of power are leaving us a free land and all the allies recognize Greece's position as a sovereign and independent nation."

NARROWLY ESCAPE
DEATH WHEN CAR
GOES OVER BANKThree Men Injured When Cars Turn Out on Narrow Road to Avoid Bad Collision.

Harry Benwitz, 615 South Locust street, and Walter W. Croen, 1111 Broadway, narrowly escaped death and both were injured at half past eleven this morning when the car in which they were riding rolled down a twenty-foot embankment near the intersection of Dye and Bleach works, after it had collided with a small truck driven by Eugene Ambrose.

The Ambrose truck was coming out the narrow road between the canal and the swamp, connecting the Jones plant with the main road, and upon rounding a turn faced the large car owned by Benwitz and driven by young McKee. Both cars turned over the embankment, hitting a small stump at the edge of the road, and thus saving itself from a plunge into the river. Just as the cars passed, the Benwitz car hit a large tree, and the larger car off the road, and over the embankment where after two complete turns it came to rest in the swamp twenty feet below.

The Ambrose car, however, rolled over the embankment, and the two men and a dog crawled from the car which luckily had alighted right side up. Benwitz suffered a bruised hip and a badly lacerated hand, which he saved from being mangled when McKee was more badly injured, receiving a twisted back, and a bruised hip and chest. Both men are resting comfortably this afternoon.

Dr. Dolan and Dr. Jones slightly cut when the windshield of the Ambrose car, in which he was riding, was shattered when the car struck the post.

Benwitz alleges that he slowed down upon seeing Ambrose approaching, while Ambrose declares that he was not going fast and that he turned out as far as the road would permit, declaring that the stump was the only thing that saved him from running into the river. The road at that point is but loosely constructed of cinders, and is very narrow with a steep embankment on each side. The cars were badly injured in a marvel in the opinion of those who were involved in the accident.

Ambrose took both Benwitz and McKee to the Jones plant, where Benwitz is employed, and Dr. Dolan was called. They were later taken to their homes.

MAIN ST. PAVING
TO START MONDAYGund & Graham Company Inform City
Today They Will Commence
Work Next Week—Laying Services Now.

A letter this morning to Mayor Father from George Gund of Gund & Graham Construction Company, which was awarded the contract for the paving of South Main street, between Sharon and Racine streets, would commence work Monday.

The first portion of the work will be the rebuilding of the Janesville traction company's line over the street. At the same time the laying of all necessary service pipes, sewer, water and gas, to properties which do not already have them in, will be started. The street will be filled with a block of gas main. The trench work will be completed in time to permit the street improvement to continue unhampered.

The mollicite type of pavement will be laid on this section of the street; a base of three inches of concrete and the big interlocking bricks laid while the cement is still green, and the spaces between the bricks filled with a cement wash, making the improvement a solid and durable piece of work which should last at least fifty years without repair.

The street is in practically an impassable condition now. The main reason for this is the utter absence of any repairs to the street department since spring. Superintendent Goodman extending his efforts to make better the condition of other streets, knowing that South Main would shortly be under permanent improvement. In addition, the laying of many of the services has filled the thoroughfare with ruts. "Drive slow and with lots of care" is a good warning for motorists being made to care for all Main street between Racine street and the bridge.

FIX QUOTA
FOR COUNTY
AT 372 MENJANESVILLE DISTRICT MUST FURNISH 152 AND BELOIT DISTRICT
220 FOR FIRST DRAFT ARMY.

CALL TWICE AS MANY

Double the Number to be Raised Will be Summoned Before Boards for Examination.—Official Lists Still Awaited.

Rock county's quota for the first army to be raised under the selective draft, is 372 men, according to official information received today by the Gazette from the local registration boards from Governor Emanuel L. Philipp.

The quota for the first district, which includes the city of Janesville, Evansville and Edgerton, and the northern tier of towns, is 152 men. The quota for the second or Beloit district is 220 men.

Twice the number assigned in the quotas will be called up for examination by the local registration and exemption boards as soon as the official lists are received. The order of each registered man's liability to service have been completed. That will mean that the first 304 men drawn will be summoned for the first draft, and the first 400 men drawn will be called up in the second district.

Officials are doubtful whether the quota can be filled from twice the number required. In case physical disability and exemptions cut into the number too severely, it may be necessary to call up additional men. These will be summoned in order to prepare liability to serve. For example, if the first district should still be twenty men short of its 152 required after the first 304 have been examined, the next 304 would be summoned to appear.

Official lists of the order of drawings conducted at Washington last Friday have not as yet been received in Rock county, although they have been expected for several days. As soon as received, work will be rushed, in compiling the official list of names. The list can be called to report as early as possible.

In the first district the registration and exemption board held a meeting Wednesday at Washington, fully the rules and regulations. The secretary of the board was authorized to secure whatever clerical help he considered necessary. He promptly notified the official list of the registered men of the district in the order of drawing.

If the list of numbers should be received from Washington late today or early tomorrow, it would be impossible to complete the necessary clerical work in time for a meeting of the exemption board before the first of next week.

The quota of men that Wisconsin will have to furnish under the draft law was computed by Adjutant General William H. Taft.

Here is the quota by counties:

NO MORE RECRUITS IS LATEST ORDER FOR COMPANY "M"

Men on Furlough Ordered to Report at Armory—Want Women of City to Make Signal Flags.

No more recruits will be accepted by Company M. Orders have been received by Captain E. N. Caldwell from the commander of the First Regiment, Colonel Leach, stating that all units which have reached war strength will discontinue recruiting and that hereafter all men enlisting will be assigned to those units or the state guard which have not as yet reached their quota.

One hundred and fifty is war strength, and as the local unit now numbers 157, the company will have orders issued to all company commanders of the First regiment. This order substantiates the statements made by those who advised that the time the unit was made, and fulfills the prophecy made by Company M in its recruiting campaign.

Every man in the company will be notified of this order by the company. More than twenty calls were loaned to the company in answer to the plea made by Captain Caldwell, and this morning the unit was notified that the company was no longer recruiting. Those who are absent on furlough, to report at the armory today. Twenty-four men will answer this call, and from now on the company will be a full unit.

About fifty of this number will be quartered at the armory while the remainder will live at their homes, as they have been doing since the mobilization of the unit a week ago last Sunday.

Though of every man is required a thorough knowledge of signalling, the government issues signal flags only to the buglers of each unit, and at present Company M has but one bugler. As the only adequate way in which the signal code can be learned is by actual practice in both sending and receiving, a large number of flags are needed, and needed at once.

The flags are eighteen inches square and are provided with three corners on one edge with which they are tied to the staff. They are made of any material and of any color. Captain Caldwell appeals to the women of the city to make these signal flags for the men. Seventy-five pairs are wanted, and all who will undertake to do this work are requested to notify the armory, that the number to be received may be tabulated.

All of the men who have been called in from their furloughs have had some drill, with the exception of three or four, and will be able to go ahead rapidly in the advanced work which is being given the company at present. The greater number of men, who are still untrained, are progressing so rapidly that they are being drilled with the older veterans, and but a small detachment of men remains in the "backwash" squad.

The drill is now divided between several branches of tactics. Calisthenics open the day, and during the six hours of drill in rainy weather, the men are given training in position and aiming drills, sighting drills, extended order work, bayonet exercises, without arms for training in the foot movements, and with arms for the proper use of the bayonet itself, hiking and forced marching, semaphore signalling, arm and hand signalling and the various methods of company attack.

Despite the severe heat and the relative newness of the men at the rigors of marching, the company has taken a number of extended marches, and the proper use of the bayonet itself, hiking and forced marching, semaphore signalling, arm and hand signalling and the various methods of company attack.

Recruit drill for the slower members of the company is given each day by non-commissioned officers, with a view to giving as much individual attention to each recruit as is possible. With this method of training, it is hoped to have every man in good shape before the company leaves the home station.

Cook Joseph Meyers has been promoted to a corporal, and Private Frank Taylor has been made a cook.

Supper will be served at half past six. With this meeting, the main duties of president of the missionary society with an energy which has done much to make it a success, and her departure causes the regret of the entire membership.

LOCAL SCHOOL WINS PENMANSHIP HONOR

St. Patrick's Parochial School Awarded First Place in National Competition.

St. Patrick's school of Janesville has been awarded first place in the "America Penmanship Contest," recently held by the A. N. Palmer company of Chicago, Ill.

This contest was open to all schools, both public and parochial, in the United States using the Palmer system of penmanship, and it bespeaks well of St. Patrick's school, having won first place in a national contest of this nature.

The Palmer system of penmanship embodies the principles of muscular control and the principles of muscular control. The pupil is first drilled very carefully in the basic outline before attempting to form any ordinary outlines if the alphabet letters.

The penmanship work of the smaller grades is truly marvelous at St. Patrick's school. The youngsters are so carefully drilled in letter outlines that when they commence writing words, each letter outline is practically perfect. This method of penmanship instruction is gradually spreading throughout the country, and grandfathers were taught in the little log school and which, unfortunately, have been imposed upon our present day youngsters without any material change or revision.

DRAWN UNDER DIGGER IN SAND PIT CAVE-IN

Detention Hospital Keeper, Working in Pit, Injured Before Machine Can Be Brought to Stop.

Caught in a cave-in as he was shoveling sand into a digger at the Wisconsin Sand and Gravel company pit on South of Madison street yesterday afternoon, the body of John Payne, superintendent of the detention hospital, was drawn beneath the machine and badly injured. He was attracted to the heavy iron shovels of the apparatus.

James Cheeseman, Payne's son-in-law, was operating the digger, but was about twenty feet away from the controlling levers. He was attracted by the shout of another workman and sprang to the controls in time to prevent the body from being drawn under farther than the lips.

Mr. Payne was immediately removed to his residence in the detention hospital less than half a block over the top of the hill and physicians were called. It was found that his limbs and hips were a mass of cuts and bruises. There were no fractures found as late as noon today.

GETS FIRST LETTER FROM SON IN FRANCE

W. S. Pond Receives Letter From Alonzo Pond, Telling of Safe and Pleasant Journey.

W. S. Pond received this week a letter from his son, Alonzo W. Pond, who left for France last week. Alonzo, where he will serve as an ambulance driver in the American Red Cross. The letter, which was posted at Bordeaux, France, was a long one, and with congenial companions, many of them college men who will enter the same or other lines of war service. Among the passengers were Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and his wife, and young man, who has enlisted in the ambulance work.

Pond's letter mentions no attack on their steamer by submarines during the journey, although passengers were warned to sleep with their clothes on during the nights they passed through the danger zone.

McASOO EXTENDS THANKS TO LOCAL BACKERS OF RECENT LIBERTY LOAN

F. H. Jackman, chairman of the local distribution committee for the Liberty Loan, has received a communication from R. E. Meach of Beloit, chairman for the county, conveying the thanks of Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. McAdoo, for the work of the local men in floating the loan. The result could not have been accomplished without the effective aid of such patriotic citizens as yourself and to the members of your committee declared Mr. McAdoo. "Loyally and unselfishly you gave the government your best efforts and you can enjoy the satisfaction of knowing that you have contributed immeasurably to the first signal victory America has won in this righteous war. I also take this opportunity to express the hope that you will preserve your admirable organization and that I may have your assistance again when the government has to place additional bond issues."

THRONGS MAKE MERRY AT GROCERS' PICNIC

Dance is Climax of Day's Enjoyment.—Hundreds of Picnickers Pleased With Outing.

"Home Sweet Home" came altogether too sudden at the monster picnic held at East Park yesterday, when Janesville's grocers and butchers made merry at their annual outing. Although it has been hinted that the weather man was bribed by the committee in charge of the festivities, the bribe consisting of one-half dozen eggs, it was the unanimous opinion of all the picnickers that the bribe was well spent.

During the morning and afternoon every game and sport imaginable was recklessly indulged in by the picnic crowd, who resembled one large, joyous family.

In the evening the town folk evidently became homesick for their kind-hearted butchers and grocers, and every street car and interurban was packed to the platform by people anxious to join in the merry-making.

The dance attracted many of the younger folk from Janesville and Beloit and the spacious dance hall could not accommodate all the dancers. A double shift was therefore arranged, which helped to alleviate the crowded condition. The Bower City Band again crowned itself with glory, every selection being rendered with a "punch" that made a hit with the dancers.

Scores of automobiles made the trip to East Park from the city. The evening was all that could be wished for and the ride was thoroughly enjoyed. With the exception of two bad holes the roads were in excellent condition.

On the homeward trip from the picnic a certain car drove too close to the ditch and flopped over. The occupants miraculously escaped without any injuries. The owner of the car has not been found.

The attendance from Beloit was so large that it was necessary to run extra interurban cars to accommodate the crowd. Many soldiers remained at the picnic grounds all day and were treated royally by everyone. "Lucky I'm a soldier," confided one of the khaki-clad boys. "I used to be a milk-wagon driver and wouldn't have had a chance to get in on this."

The picnic was a huge success in every particular. No accidents occurred to mar the fun of the day and everyone who attended will remember the picnic as a "brag spot" in their lives.

TO EMPLOY A NURSE TO CONDUCT CLINIC

Anti-Tuberculosis Society Plans to Have All School Children Examined During Fall Term.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Janesville Anti-Tuberculosis association it was resolved to take steps towards health conservation in the employment of a specially trained nurse to conduct a medical clinic among the children of the city attending the schools. It is hoped to have the work begin shortly after the opening of the schools in the fall.

It was also decided to secure three hundred sets of baby feeding charts for free distribution to the mothers of new babies. More needless deaths of infants occur from unwise and incorrect feeding than from any other cause. To stop this needless waste of human life these charts were compiled and will be furnished with compliments of the Anti-Tuberculosis association.

LOCAL GOLFERS WIN
2 TO 1 FROM BELOIT

Visitors Not Match on Local Links for Retaliation at Beloit.

Janesville Country club members yesterday upheld their reputation of never losing a match on the home grounds when they defeated golfers from the Beloit Country club. Janesville players collected a total of 48 points against 25 for the Line City enthusiasts.

The visitors were entertained at dinner following the match. It was started immediately after lunch to insure an early finish. The Beloit men took their defeat good naturedly, but with broad intimations of what was in store for the Bower City players when they journeyed down the river.

THE STRANGE CASE
OF JOSEPH KELLY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, July 25.—The case of Joe Kelly is one of the strange twists of fate that once upon a time grabbed Jack Knight and, tying his tight, threw him for a great loss.

Joe always has been one of the "curious" story of a law leaguer. Away back in the days when Allen, son of Mike Reagan, George Sister and other stars were wondering if they ever would be able to fill even a minor league uniform, Joe was hitting them far and wide. In addition he was establishing records as a base runner.

Joe had had several chances at the big show, always to fall down. He's growing old as ball players age, but he's still up there trying his mightiest to convince the big timers he has the punch.

Joe began as a ball player back in the Western association—in the palmy days of baseball. In a short time he graduated into a class A circuit where his playing was of such a decided high class character he was sold his second year to the Chicago White Sox.

Joe had batted his way into the select 300 class of hitters in a class A league and had fallen only slightly behind the league's record for stolen bases when Jimmy Callahan, who was then running the Sox, picked him up. Joe merely was used for practice that year and was sent back to the Western league, from where he soon graduated to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Joe was an authority on that Chick Fraser, the one time star pitcher, claimed Joe an excellent outfielder, one who would make his mark if ever given the chance; but Joe was discarded after a year's effort and relegated to the American association where he immediately started in all over, batting a .300 clip and stealing bases at random.

The Cubs grabbed Joe and he was doing well when Fred Mitchell was engaged to pilot the Chicago club. Joe was sent to the Braves in the deal. He hasn't been paralyzing the opposition with his hits, but he has been playing decidedly good baseball.

A little encouragement will go a long way with Kelly. He would be a star with the proper man to give him a chance. Perhaps Stallings is the man to do it.

LEONARD DEFEATS
KILBANE IN THIRD

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Philadelphia, July 25.—It took Benny Leonard, king of the ring, nine seconds of actual work to show Johnny Kilbane, featherweight boss, that he was out of his class in the 133-pound division tonight. For just one second before the third round of their six-round set to was over, Leonard shot a left hook to Kilbane's jaw and he flopped to the floor, a beaten man. Although Kilbane couldn't have been county out, Jimmy Dunn, his manager, tossed a towel in the ring, admitting defeat.

It was a one-sided fight from any angle. Kilbane was plainly outclassed and Johnny, as well as his manager, knew it. That's why the tag went over the ropes, for Dunn refused to see his man fight, punished needlessly. He already had Kilbane's end of the purse in his pocket, $10,000, and the Irishman had no laurels to lose. He retains his featherweight crown, and Leonard again proved to the fighting world that he is a real scrapper, a welcome relief after Freddie Welsh.

MORRIS MILLER

Yale has begun communication with Harvard and Princeton relative to the resumption of athletics this fall. At a recent meeting of the Yale athletic council it was deemed impossible to reinstate sports this fall, because of war. But an attempt will be made to arrange freshman contests. Harvard and Princeton athletic officials are being sounded. They appear agreeable. There is a fair prospect of the classes of 1921 meeting in football and other sports. No opposition will be made at Yale.

Yale has turned its athletics over to the military authorities. Sport will be subservient to military plans. All varsity athletes of last spring are in military service. Provision will be made for canceling any freshman contest, provided military exigency so dictates.

Yale will be represented at the meeting in Washington on August 2, probably by Professor Robert N. Corwin, chairman of the Yale athletic council. The Blue will repeat its position hopeless of willingness to resume sports under military authority.

Many a player feels gratified if he can hit in the 300 class for one season, but Honus Wagner has batted for a grand average of .330 over a stretch of twenty years.

Baseball life has run in the form of a circle for Lee Magee. He went from St. Louis to Brooklyn, from Brooklyn to New York and now is back in St. Louis again.

The name of Columbus always has been associated with discovery. In the Ohio city of that name it has been discovered that the New York club is after Pitcher Loderhohl.

With so many choice locations vacant in the major leagues there is no earthly reason why brains ever should submit to existing in crowded quarters.

Johnny Evers recently did a mighty nice thing in Philadelphia. On his appearance in a Quaker uniform he received a floral horseshoe and Johnny took it to Bill Hinchman, the Pittsburgh outfielder, who is in a Philadelphia hospital with a broken leg.

Clark Griffith has been raising a fund to ship baseball supplies to soldiers at the front. In spite of the fact that the first installment went down when the Kansas was submerged, Griffith is still on the job and intends to see that the soldiers are supplied.

Ed Lafitte, who once pitched for Detroit, has enlisted as a dental surgeon in the United States army. If some scheme can be worked out to get the Germans into the dental chair, Lafitte should be of the greatest assistance to the allies.

Cruise and Neal of Cincinnati are firmly hanging on to their places among the five heaviest hitters of their league.

Another prodigy in the golfing world is Rudolph Knepper, the fifteen-year-old city champion of Sioux City. The lad comes from a family of players, and shows great promise for the future. His mother is the city champion of Sioux City and his father is president of the Iowa State Golf association. Young Knepper was recently the runner-up in the state tournament.

The report from St. Joseph that Charley (Babe) Adams had been sold to the Chicago Cubs was a dream originating in the mind of a certain party in St. Joseph. With all due respect to Adams, he has about as much chance for a comeback as has Mordca Brown.

The Omaha club has returned Scrappy Moore, the college third base man, to the St. Louis Browns. He failed to show anything but noise in his brief trial with the Omahogs.

The Sioux City club has taken on the veteran outfielder, Andy Kyte, who was with Bloomington in the Three-I.

BIG MILK CONCERN IS VIOLATING LAW

Madison, Wis., July 25.—Disregard of a law relating to the purchase of milk, passed by the last legislature, has just been brought to the attention of Attorney General Walter C. Owen. A large milk concern, operating largely in southern Wisconsin, has sought to gain a foothold in one of the lakeshore counties by paying prices in excess of those paid either in its home community or by the cheese factories and creameries in its new field. The difference in its two rates varying at times upwards of $1 a hundred.

Attorney General Owen has not issued a ruling on the question, but said he was making an investigation. This law, which was fathered in the legislature by Assemblyman Grell of Jefferson county, prohibits the purchase of milk by a concern at varying prices in the different localities in which it operates.

To meet the competition indicted upon them by this concern the local cheesemakers and creamerymen are calling the attention of the farmers to the value of whey and skim milk by products of these industries which are used in feeding stock. They point out and cite G. H. Benkenhoff of the Wisconsin dairy school as their authority that skim milk at the present range of prices for feeds-stuffs is worth eighty cents per hundredweight and whey forty cents. Upon a recent visit to this community Mr. Benkenhoff, who is the secretary of the Wisconsin Buttermakers' association, urged the raising of all the hogs and calves possible. He dwelt on the present food situation and gave figures to show that the increase in the production of cheese in this country was not keeping pace with the increasing population.

By the sale of whole milk even at the increased prices now being quoted

RUSSIA DEMORALIZED.

Just what Russia will actually accomplish in this great war remains to be seen. At present it appears as though the struggle hold that the socialists have upon the government may seriously handicap it.
 While it is impossible not to take a pessimistic view of the Russian situation, it is easy to see how perfectly it reconciles itself to the philosophy of history. Revolutions, least of all our own, do not settle themselves in a few weeks, nor is stable government restored until the people have learned that democracy also means obedience, even if it is that more spiritual obedience which is due to the common interest and the common liberty.

It may be years before a leadership emerges in Russia strong enough to unify the country in its old form; and it may be that a process of disintegration will set in among its many races which by no means logically involves a return to federalism. Germany had two lines of conquest open to her at the beginning of the war. One was toward the British channel, involving Belgium and northern France, with a political dominance over Holland.
 The other was to the Euphrates valley. The Russian revolutionists have provided her with a third objective,
 which is central and northern Russia.
 Unless these leaders can instill a different spirit into their armies, the path of conquest is wide open.

Socialism always falls down in this way because while it contemplates popular rule, each individual imagines that he has as good a right as anybody to be the ruler. He would probably not be a socialist if he had learned that better successful rulership is possible, he must know how to obey.
 If this is true in a civil sense it is trebly true in a military sense. Obedience is the essence of military strength and the moment it fails, the military machine goes to pieces.

What happened in the regiments which turned tail in Galicia is easy to explain. Every man distrusted the man next to him and was afraid that he would run away. Least of all did his trust his officers, while every regiment feared that it would not be supported by the regiment on its flank.
 The demoralizing idea which this engenders is that the first to run will have the best of it. The result as we saw was a retreat degenerating into a rout before an inferior force, and the elimination of the Russian offensive for this year's campaign, at least.

All the training of the soldier is directed to making him see that it is incomparably safer to fight than to run away. When once this discipline is lost only reconstruction of an army and training from the beginning can restore it. The British did so in Egypt, "making riflemen from rudd," and it took them years to do it. The regeneration of the Russian army is a task for the greatest organizing genius
 the world ever saw, and there is no such genius in sight.

SOON TO LEAVE.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that within a very short time the various national guard units that have been called into war service will be on their way to the southern cantonments where they are to be given the proposed intensive training preparatory to actual war service in France.
 The Wisconsin guard is already under the government's orders, held at their home armories, the majority of the enlisted men being minus uniforms, arms or any equipment, waiting orders to entrain for the military depot where they will be equipped with uniforms, arms and equipment.
 The United States government can do no better by its proposed draft army of a half million towards equipping them than it has as regards the Wisconsin guard the hope that the United States is to play an important part in the European struggle is gone. Apparently this nation is long on talk and short on foresight. Meanwhile steps are being considered to raise what are known as company funds for the various guard units that have been called out. Citizens will be given an opportunity to subscribe their bit and it is hoped that the fund raised for the local company will be sufficient to meet the demands that will be made upon it when the soldiers actually get into the field service and are living on government rations, wearing government clothes and sleeping in tents or barracks. The fund thus raised is handled by the commanding officer, who is in turn checked up by the regimental officers so that no waste is permitted. These men who have offered their services to the government should be treated with every consideration and now is the opportunity of citizens throughout the county to make their contributions to the company funds of the various military units, at Janesville, Beloit and Edgerton, before the men leave for the front as it were.

TOO MUCH TALK.

An eastern exchange in commenting upon the proclivity of the members of congress to indulge in long-winded debates and useless arguments instead of actually accomplishing something, says:
 "In the news from the Russian front
 there is no more significant sighting than that of a detachment of troops ordered to relieve hard pressed comrades elsewhere, spending hours in debating their course of action. Allowing that they were misled by suborn agents of the enemy, it still remains true that a large section of the Russian army believes that its business can be conducted by talk.
 As its business is fighting, it needs its breath for something else.
 "This idea of government by talk
 is not confined to the Russian army.
 It is only too well known here. In Germany the practical German mind recognizes this tendency, and by establishing a Reichstag, which is a powerful debating society and nothing else, it insures efficient civil and military administration which, however autocratic, does at least achieve the ends for which it was created.
 The end of government is not to talk,
 but to govern. Debate is useful, and indeed indispensable, but only as a means to that end.
 "But congress is under the impression still that if it discharges the functions of a debating society, consuming illimitable time where time is worth millions in money and thousands in lives, it is doing all for which it was created. But the end of the legislative part of our government is as much to secure efficient government as that of the judicial, to say nothing of the administrative. A large section of congress, perhaps even a majority, is, however, obsessed with this overwhelming reverence for talk, irrespective of whether it is useful or mischievous.

"Doubtless a small section is willing to encourage this subservience to a wornout ritual, in order to aid the German cause, with which it is secretly and even openly sympathizing.
 But the fault lies with the majority.
 Congress is constitutionally the master of its own procedure. It can stifle time wasting speeches and dilatory amendments if it chooses. It can place power with responsibility and save it from being talked into impotence by yet another wrangling commission.

"If the pro-German minority in congress can turn parliamentary usage to such evil effect, why is it not possible for the much larger loyal minority to apply the rule the other way round? We may be thankful that we are sending soldiers and not congressmen to the front. But why should it be possible to paralyze the indispensable support of organized administration by these floods of futile rhetoric?"

STAND BACK OF MEN WHO FIGHT IN RANKS DEFENSE BOARD PLEA

Madison, Wis., July 26.—The following appeal to the men who will stay at home during the war was made today by the State Council of Defense:

"Now is the time when Uncle Sam expects every citizen to be a soldier.
 To each of us comes the privilege of rendering a soldier service to our country, even the most of us must remain at home. It is up to everyone of us to stand back of the boys who wear the uniform and who bear the brunt of our battle at the front.

"Every fellow who is to have the honor of representing Wisconsin at the front should have every reasonable assurance that his home affairs will receive the best possible attention while he is away, and that every effort will be made to have his regular position or a better one, open for him when he comes back.

"Back of every soldier boy there should be here at home a citizen friend and a 'back-home' fellow, his brother, his pal.

"We, therefore, urge every county council of defense to call for volunteers, warm blooded Americans who are not called to the colors, to enlist in the army at home. Every soldier in the home army personally standing back of one of the boys in Uncle Sam's real army.

"This call should come now so that each home soldier may select or be selected by an enlisted man, establish personal relations, become the acquaintance and helping friend of the family or relatives left behind and who would, when the soldier was gone, see to it that if those dependent on him were in want their cases would be reported to those organizations that could lend prompt and efficient aid.

"This personal relation between the soldier in the army and the home soldier should be established now so that every soldier in leaving would feel that all the folks at home were interested in his personal welfare.
 That all the friends at home expect him to regard his military service as a stepping stone to a more useful life when he returns from the front and again becomes a member of the community.

"We want to do this now, so that each soldier who leaves us will want to come back to us. We want them to feel all the while they are away that they are still members of the home community, that the old ties are not broken, but are growing stronger.

"In order that this may be sure to happen the State Council of Defense will require that the soldier at home keep the soldier at the front fully informed of local news, that welcome news from back home. That the soldier at home tell the soldier at the front of the promotions and honors
 of other boys from the home county, serving in their divisions, have received. That the soldier pal at home write at least a fortnightly letter to his soldier pal at the front, and supply his real soldier with the worthwhile poems, editorials, and short stories inspired by the war, as well as a copy of the soldier's favorite home paper.

"The soldier at home could see that his real soldier pal is, at all times, properly equipped with such articles of clothing, etc., as the government who is in a position to furnish at the present time. He could see that the tobacco pouch, where carried, is never empty. "The soldier at home should keep in close personal touch, not only with the soldier's family and relations but with his friends, and prompt them to write the letters of home gossip and news that will be so welcome, so encouraging, that would brighten weary and homesick days.

"The administrative work entailed by the above program should be handled by each County Council of Defense. Where money may be needed the county council would be a helpful and a forceful agency in finding ways and means.

"Let every boy who follows the flag feel that he leaves behind a soldier pal with a soldier spirit.

"There are many who would like to go, many who can't go, many who would welcome the chance to serve their country in some real way.
 Here's the chance, the big chance, the real chance. It is the one thing left undone in all our efficient organizations because it is intimate, personal,
 and for that very reason is helpful in a way that no institution or organization can be.

"Each County Council of Defense
 in Wisconsin is directed to at once send out this call for the volunteers to fill the ranks of the soldiers at home. A definite plan for carrying out this work will shortly be sent out to the county councils of defense.

"The State Council of Defense wants to be very certain that no soldier following the flag is without a soldier at home standing back of him with encouragement, and practical every day home service.

"As a soldier at the front is subject to organization and discipline, so the soldier at home in order to do effective work must have organization.
 This organization to be arranged under the direction of the County Council of Defense which will see that the soldier at home makes good."

THE MUSHROOMERS.

Mr. and Mrs. Dozencek had been eating porpoise steak with mushrooms twice a week for all the thirteen years of their married life before
 Mr. Dozencek had his epohmaking idea.

"Mushrooms grow in the fields—free for the picking," he is saying as our story opens. "Free for the picking," I say, and yet for thirteen years we have been paying exorbitant rates for them at the drug store, or wherever you buy them. If I had all the money we have spent for mushrooms I could probably buy myself at least a gold-tipped lapin-wood cane.

After this, Hydrangia, we will go and pick our own mushrooms."

"Oh, Hydrangia, you do have such spillous ideas!" crowded Mrs. Dozeneck. "Well, buy ourselves an automobile so we can run out to the country and back in no time at all with a whole back seat full of lovely mushrooms!"

And the next afternoon she met him downtown and helped him pick out a thirteen cylinder $6,000 Skik-kard, a $450 folding lunch box big enough for a bottle of grape juice and a complete set of toothpicks, a dozen extra tires, at $78 a piece, in case of tire trouble, and a chauffeur at $24.00
 a week, to watch the machine while

On Battlefield In France

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
With the British Army in the field, July 26—It is a sight for sore eyes to see the Stars and Stripes floating in the war zone of France and under it pretty American girls moving between rows of hospital tents decorating the landscape with their smiles.

Today I had tea at No. 11 base hospital. The old unit from Boston was spread to the new girls, just arrived. And as Chicago No. 12 from Cook county hospital was in charge of No. 13 general, only a half mile down the road, the girls from Chicago were there too. Also one British general—a Sir—and any number of colonels, majors, captains and lieutenants.

Outside, over a sea of tents, the sun was shining. Inside the tents American girls moved silently to and fro watching over the wounded. Medical officers wearing the American uniform went from bed to bed.

In the middle of the field canvas stood the marquee under which tea was being poured. Every minute a medical officer wearing the American uniform went from bed to bed.

At the punch bowl—a beautiful, claret-colored fruit punch, fragrant with the spring water Moses smote from the rock. The rest made the guests welcome and brought them cakes and buttered bread and cheese. And smiled and laughed and talked real Chicago and Evansville and Boston talk, their blue uniforms and white head-dresses adding to the general sunshiny. Sips of conversation mingled with the rattle of spoons in teacups.

"Cincinnati!" one pretty girl exclaimed as she smiled up at a British officer. "Do you really know Cincinnati? Way I was born there! I went to Chicago to take up trained nursing at the Cook county."

"Sure I know Cincinnati!" the officer smiled. "I'm a Canadian from the states. I was born in Georgia."

"Georgia!" the sister exclaimed. "What part?"

"Oh, there was disappointment in her voice. 'I was hoping it would be Augusta. I know a lot of folks down that way.'"

"That's away! Oh you American girl."

"So you are from Evansville?" another officer was saying to another nurse. "I've been in Evansville."

"Honest!" said the girl. "Didn't you like it there? I think Evansville is the prettiest place in the world."

"Have another glass of punch," suggested a pretty sister with a tray as she stood in front of a small group of American youngsters wearing the uniform of a lieutenant.

"Don't say I do," said the crowd in chorus. "Thanks."

Then somebody said, "Reminds me of a real old Alabama church sociable, this does."

"I turned to see who the speaker could be. It was an army reserve surgeon, ranking as captain, from Selma."

"Selma?" two girls were talking. "Why don't our officers wear Sam Brown belts like the British?" one of them wanted to know.

"The English officers are ever so much more chic in their uniforms. Our men, with their standing collars on their tunics look like extras besides the British. Don't you think so?"

Three or four girls from the Chicago unit stood about one of the Harvard girls, in France since a year ago. They were wearing her snowy, flowing head-dresses.

"Oh why can't we have coiffures like yours?" one of them moaned with mock tragedy in her voice. "Our little white muslin with the tiny red crosses on them look so common beside yours. All the society ladies have adopted your kind. They are becoming to everybody."

"Just look at my uniform," a second girl exclaimed. "I just must send it to the cleaners to have that spot removed and to come out here in the country there isn't any cleaner."

"Yes there is," said the pretty girl addressed. "and it's just down the road. Go down that way pointing) until you come to the bayonet practice, turn to the right and go on as far as the bombing school. Then you will see the sign right next to the 'Bolshevik' engineer's laboratory."

"Oh, thank you so much!" said the girl with the spot.

And so the American girls went on talking.

As I left one of the older nurses said gravely:

"This doesn't look very warlike, does it? And if the folks at home could see us now, they probably say we were not paying attention to our jobs. But, tea like this don't happen every day. We have saved up for a long time in order to have the delicious. When tonight comes, and tomorrow, and all the other nights and tomorrows, we will be caring for wounded men, fresh from the battlefields. And it is hard work just as we have the phonograph play to keep the patients cheerful so do we try to take the sisters' minds off their work now and then."

Suddenly the nurse smiled and became gay again. "It's a regular little sociable, isn't it," she said.

VILLAGE NEAR CAMP
DUE FOR A CLEAN-UP

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., July 26.—The village of Camp Douglas will receive the most thorough clean-up in its history, rivaling the perfect sanitation of the military camp nearby, as a result of action just taken by the village officials.

A sanitary survey of the village was made by Dr. W. Henika, deputy state health officer, who succeeded in securing the co-operation of the village board in improving former conditions.

The local authorities have voted to appoint a full-time sanitary officer to enforce a clean-up of all streets, alleys, toilets, cesspools, and other places where sanitary conditions have been below standard.

The presence of large numbers of Wisconsin and Michigan troops at Camp Douglas makes it imperative that cleanliness be observed in all the camp environments. Relatives no less than the soldiers themselves expect such safeguards to be provided at this Wisconsin training camp, and the state will maintain a strict supervision of the program.

The camp grounds were represented by the state board officials being about the nearest and cleanest in the state of Wisconsin. The camp is a supply is guarded against all impurities, unusual precautions having been taken while driving the wells to avoid the possibility of surface contamination.

The state inspector also acted to protect the milk supply of the military camp. The dairymen who supply the camp with milk have agreed, in order to ensure a pure product, to adopt his suggestions on the subject of milk pails, strainers, clean cattle and udders, change of clothing at milking time, washing of the milkers' hands and bottles, and cooling of the milk prior to delivery at the camp.

Any future applicants for the sale of milk to the camp will be compelled to subscribe to the same requirements. The enforcement of these rules is expected to insure the soldiers a grade of milk better even than the average city supply at the present time.

Any future applicants for the sale of milk to the camp will be compelled to subscribe to the same requirements. The enforcement of these rules is expected to insure the soldiers a grade of milk better even than the average city supply at the present time.

The state inspector also acted to protect the milk supply of the military camp. The dairymen who supply the camp with milk have agreed, in order to ensure a pure product, to adopt his suggestions on the subject of milk pails, strainers, clean cattle and udders, change of clothing at milking time, washing of the milkers' hands and bottles, and cooling of the milk prior to delivery at the camp.

Any future applicants for the sale of milk to the camp will be compelled to subscribe to the same requirements. The enforcement of these rules is expected to insure the soldiers a grade of milk better even than the average city supply at the present time.

WE ARE MOVING PIANOS

In This Great Price Slashing Sale THE END IS NEAR THIS GREAT SALE WILL CLOSE SOON

ACT NOW BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE

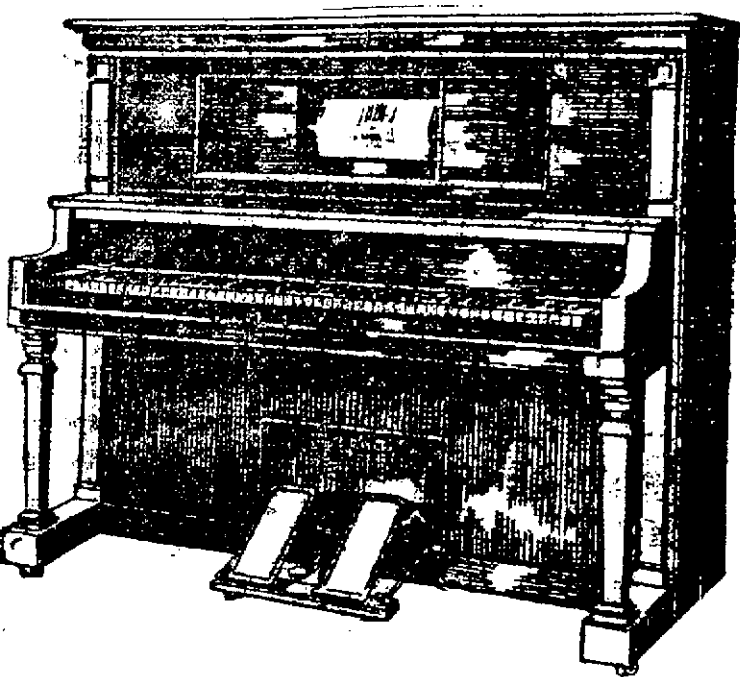

The success of this great sale is not due to the influence of any particular individual in connection with the company, but rather to the tremendous reductions that have been made on every Piano and Player Piano in this stock. We, at this time, wish to place particular emphasis on the fact that the prices and terms which we are presenting to the purchasing public at this time must be accepted as a precedent on any future purchase either at this store or at the warerooms of our respected fellow piano merchants. This sale is for the particular purpose of converting Pianos and Player Pianos in cash or good piano contracts. We would prefer that all purchases be made for cash, but this is not by any means necessary. $5.00 WILL SEND A PIANO HOME. $1 A WEEK WILL PAY THE BALANCE. $10 WILL SEND A PLAYER PIANO TO YOUR HOME. $8 PER MONTH WILL PAY THE BALANCE. We are open for business at 8 o'clock every morning. The store closes in the evening at 10.

The Floors Must Be Cleared

While we are selling a tremendous number of Pianos, you must not lose sight of the fact that we have many instruments to sell, and a compilation of figures will prove to you that this represents a good many thousands of dollars, even at these greatly reduced prices. We must sell this stock. We will not permit anything to stand in the way, even if we have to make still greater reductions.

Every Instrument Must Be Sold

We will not allow a few dollars one way or the other to stand between you and the Piano you want. If the terms that we have placed on these instruments are not exactly in keeping with your requirements, we will do anything that is within the bounds of business decency. Is there anything that we can say or do that will make the proposition more attractive?

This Magnificent Bargain Will Go On Sale Today at $345

A BARGAIN IN A USED PLAYER PIANO

This player piano has been used. It has been put in excellent condition, and we will venture to say that it will last longer and give better results than several of the better grades of medium-priced Players on the American market today. A fine assortment of rolls, combination bench and scarf accompany the instrument.

This is Surely Piano Buying Time

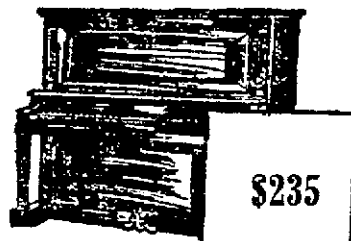

What can prevent you from buying your Piano now? Surely, it is not prices or terms. Even if you are not just ready to make the final payment, we have a plan which we will gladly explain to you that might greatly simplify the whole proposition. COME TO THIS STORE IMMEDIATELY.

Note Some of the Bargains Advertised Here Today:

$87

A beautiful soft, mellow tone. A really fine instrument in every sense of the word. Your terms.

$235

A magnificent bargain in every sense of the word. You must see this instrument to fully appreciate the value represented. $1.50 a week will do.

Free "A Stuck Pig" Free Hollers

We want every citizen in Janesville to call at our store and see the wonderful bargains we offer during this sale. WE WILL GIVE anyone their choice of any instrument in the house if they can prove that we do not or did not have the article on our floor at the price advertised at the time the advertisement went to press.

$165

Another real snap. The case of this piano is in rosewood, full octave; stool and scarf free. $1.25 a week will do.

$98

Another real bargain in a beautiful upright Piano. The case is a fine; stool and scarf free. $1 a week will suffice.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a man who hates children. I have always loved them, and have said that I would be very much disappointed if I were to grow old childless. In other words, this man is perfect, but he will not have a "brat" as he calls them around the house. Do you think he will change? He is twenty-eight.

He may change and he may not. I cannot tell. But I should say that a man of his age has pretty well settled ideas. Every married woman is entitled to have children and no husband has the right to forbid it. Such a marriage as he contemplates would surely end in unhappiness and bitter old age, I am afraid.

Dear Faithful: It is indeed unfortunate that you have placed your affections on a man who cares for another and yet of course you cannot compel yourself to love the other man who does love you.

But when you find yourself thinking of the first man occupy yourself with something that takes all your attention. Perhaps if you busy yourself with Red Cross work or some such work for others, it would help. As you are only eighteen you may learn to learn even more for another some day, although of course you will not believe it now. Then, too, the young soldier may learn while away that after all it is not so bad to have a dear comrade to him, that he loves.

I sincerely hope so, dear Faithful, for such steadfast love as yours deserves reward.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going with a girl about twenty years old.

I am fond of her, and she likes me. Both our parents are willing for us to get married. What do you think?

Unless you are nearly twenty-five years old yourself, you are too young to think of marrying. And remember that it costs more to run a home in these war times than it ever did before.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would like your advice on the following: (1) I am going to give a little dancing party. Should I send invitations to the girls and let them in whoever they want for their penance?

(2) What should I say on the invitations?

(3) Should I have programs?

(1) Yes, it is all right to do it that way.

(2) You might word it something like this: (Your Name) invites you and company to be present at an Informal Dancing Party to be held at (your home address) (date and hour).

(3) Yes, You can get inexpensive ones at a book store or stationer's. Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fifteen years of age. I have a young brother who has gone to war which grieves me very much. I have learned how to knit, and I wish to make him something, let him know we haven't forgotten him at home. Please tell me what would be nice to make.

JANE: He would probably be very glad to get a wool muffler or if you have plenty of time and are a fast worker you could make a sweater. The Red Cross is giving out instruction sheets showing how to make these various things correctly.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Is lemon juice a good bleach for freckles?

(2) Does it make a girl look tough if she wears her hair straight back from forehead?

(1) Yes.

(2) It would not make a girl of refinement look tough. All sorts of people wear their hair that way.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. Enclose a personal stamp is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

Courtesy to those who wait upon one is a sure sign of good breeding. Domesticity appreciates the people who always remember their names. Who take pains to inquire for them, and who treat them as human beings. Painted: The advances should come from the male of the species. If you are engaged to marry, his mother and sisters should call upon you and your mother, and should ask you to dinner, or pay you some social attention. Yes, you may take of your engagement ring without bringing bad luck; it is better to remove it when washing your hands. The wedding ring is the one which must not be taken off.

B. L.: Your correspondence with the young man should be guided and limited by his epistles to you. You should not express more affection than he has definitely expressed for you; and if he writes short notes or postcards, you must do likewise. He might show the dust on the arm as a sign of affection if they were not very discreet. However, we must take it for granted that he is a gentleman, and would not do that in any case.

The American telephone. The average middle-class household in England will speak of his telephone, if he has one, in the same falsely casual tone as the corresponding American is wont to speak of his motor car.

It is good to get a foreigner's point of view once in a while, isn't it?

Efficiency and fearful universalization of our telephone. We have become so used to it ourselves that we don't realize how wonderful, how pervasive and how almost alarming it is.

Too Bad Mr. Bennett Didn't Stay Longer

And we don't realize also some of the abuses to which we have drifted. Too bad Mr. Bennett couldn't have stayed long enough to have really lived among us and then he could have held them up to us, and we should have seen ourselves as others see us in that respect too.

One feels ashamed to follow in such great footsteps but in this case one wants to point out to certain abuses that one is emboldened to.

The particular abuse I mean this time is that of the persistent and intrusive telephone caller.

The Woman Couldn't Make Up Her Mind

A neighbor of mine told me this story. She had some dealings with another woman in regard to selling a certain piece of furniture. The other woman could not make up her mind whether she wanted it or not. Then one day she made up her mind that she wanted it and wanted it in a hurry. She called up my neighbor. The latter was out, dining with some new friends, people she knows but slightly. The woman called to get her telephone number. The maid refused to give it. Finally she harried the maid into it by insisting that her business was very important. She then called up and summoned my neighbor in the middle of a formal dinner to transact that business. She Would Never Have Gone To That House.

Now that woman would never have gone to the house and interrupted the dinner. She would have known that was absolutely unpardonable. But just because it was done through the telephone she lost her sense of values.

That is not an isolated case. We all know people who do through the telephone what they wouldn't think of doing face to face.

And yet long distance rudeness is just as much rudeness as the face to face variety.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

MANHOOD'S GREETING. I've got some little thrills of pride, live inwardly rejoiced, Along the pleasant lanes of life to hear my praises voiced; No great distinction have I claimed, but in a humble way.

Some satisfactions sweet have come to brighten many a day; But of the joyous thrills of life the dearest that could be Was mine upon that day when first a stranger "mistered" me.

I had my first long trousers on, and wore a derby too; But I was still a little boy to every one I knew.

I dressed in manly fashion, and I tried to act the part. But I felt that I was awkward and lacked the manly art.

And then that kindly stranger spoke my name and set me free, I was sure I'd come to manhood on the day he "mistered" me.

I never shall forget the joy that suddenly was mine, The sweetness of the thrill that seemed to dance along my spine.

The pride that swelled within me, as he shook my youthful hand And treated me as big enough with grown-up men to stand.

I felt my boy straightened and stiffening at each knee, And was gloriously happy, just because he'd "mistered" me.

I cannot now recall his name, I only wish I could. I've often wondered if that day he really understood.

How much it meant unto a boy, still wearing boyhood's tan To receive the recognition that he'd grown to be a man.

Now I try to treat as equal every growing boy I see, In memory of that kindly man—the first to "mister" me.

Wool Dyeing. Wool drying is one of the principal and serious operations in the woolen industry. The more gently and uniformly the wool is dried, the better is the result attained, for should the wool be slightly damp in some of its parts the dye does not take well, and the result is an unevenly dyed yarn, which shows in the texture of the woven goods. Overdyeing is also bad.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D. LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Posture and Backache

A faulty posture is one of the most frequent causes of backache in both sexes. Kidney trouble and ailments of the pelvic organs in woman are very rarely caused by backache. The attitude of children or adults with round shoulders substitutes ligamentous support and strain for normal muscular support of the spine and trunk, and such a posture produces fatigue, which, in persons of generally undeveloped musculature, amounts to an ache in the back.

A faulty, slouching posture predisposes to backache in two ways. First, by subjecting the ligaments of the spine and hip bones to strain. Second, by favoring the condition known as ptosis or sagging of organs in the abdomen and pelvis—kidney, liver, stomach, colon, and the pelvic organs in women.

Mankell found, by direct X-ray observation of patients in the standing posture, that a poised or sagging stomach was lifted from two to six inches in the abdomen, the mere assumption of a perfectly erect posture for a few moments. When an individual who habitually assumes a relaxed, slouchy posture voluntarily draws in his chin, which generally hangs out too far forward, elevates his chest, pulls his shoulders backward and downward and draws up the abdomen, the sagging substitutes the natural muscular support for unnatural ligamentous support, and temporarily, at least, relieves strain.

In many instances of relaxed posture, the backache is relieved by simply grasping the sagging abdomen in both hands, basket-wise, and lifting it up and supporting it for a minute. This, of course, relieves the strain on the ligamentous supports.

It is a real task for one who has acquired bad posture to hold himself properly erect for any length of time. He must practice many times a day, in standing, sitting or walking, whenever the idea occurs to him. One good rule is to let the clock be the reminder to brace yourself. No matter what you may be doing, when the hour strikes, take a brace and pull in the slack. Yawn good and plenty. Yawning and stretching is just the move you need. Practice makes perfect. Week after week you will find it easier to maintain a normal posture, and incidentally you will feel a lot better than your slouchy old self felt.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Bicycling and Tuberculosis. Please advise me whether bicycle riding is a good exercise for a person with tuberculosis, if he rides slowly. About how many miles a day should he ride? (E. C. S.)

ANSWER—If he has any fever, any elevation of body temperature at any time of the day, he shouldn't ride or take any other exercise, unless by the express order of his doctor. REST is his remedy, not exercise. Exercise is generally very harmful for a person with tuberculosis until active disease is controlled by prolonged rest, and all fever and circulatory excitement has disappeared.

Depilatory for Superfluous Hair. Will you please, please Dr. Brady, recommend a good safe depilatory for superfluous hair? (A. J. A.)

ANSWER—Safety razor. Nothing safer or more effective. There is no medicinal application which permanently removes superfluous or any other kind of hair. The electric needle is the only safe hair destroyer I know. Paste which dissolve off hair are no more efficient than a safety razor very irritating in effect.

To Those With Sure Cures for Warts. If Mr. M. will send me his address I will tell him of a remedy, given me by an old Indian chief, which never fails to destroy warts in nine nights. (N. D.)

Please send me the name and address of the party who asked you for a remedy to remove warts from his hands. I have a secret medication which my grandfather obtained from an old Mexican woman, and it cures every time. (R. H. F.)

ANSWER—Offers declined with thanks. Under no circumstances will we divulge the identity of a correspondent. The only sure cure I know for warts, and the only absolutely painless and safe one, is surgery.

Household Hints

MENU HINT Breakfast Cantaloupe Cream Sauce Omelet Toasted Graham Muffins (left over)

Luncheon Peanut Salad Bread and Butter Sandwiches Sliced Peaches Coffee

Dinner Rice Baking Powder Biscuits Green Pepper Salad Grandmother's Apple Pie Half Cups Coffee

GOOD ECONOMY DISHES Economy Hash—One pound ground beef, two cups rice, two cups cooked chopped carrots, one egg. Mixed to golden brown, well with salt, pepper and paprika, put in casserole and pour on top three-fourths cups of the water the carrots were boiled in. Bake thirty minutes, or till juice is absorbed and soup browned.

Baked Crackers and Cheese—(meat substitute)—Butter thin soda crackers, dip each in hot milk and lay in buttered baking dish. Sprinkle each layer with salt and paprika, then grated cheese. The top layer should be of soaked crackers dotted with butter. Finally, pour in a cup of milk heated with a pinch of soda. Cover closely, bake half hour in moderate oven, then uncover, brown delicately and serve. Economical and tasty.

Baked Carrots With Rice (meat substitute)—One cup carrots, one cup rice, one cup white sauce. Scrape carrots, cut in slices and boil until tender. Cook rice and drain. Place alternate layer of rice and carrots in baking dish. Season each layer with salt and pepper. Cover with white sauce. Put layer of buttered bread crumbs on top and bake moderate oven about thirty minutes.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING A Yellow Crepe or georgette waist can be dyed a beautiful orange-rose color for a few cents. Boil about one-half yard orange crepe five minutes. Strain and wash one-fourth yard red pepper in your orange water. Dip a little at a time, if it colors suits. If you want more rose shade use more red paper, and if more salmon-orange hue, use more yellow.

Easy Spot Eradicator—This has proved a good one in removing spots and stains of all kinds. Take aromatic spirits of ammonia and a small piece of cloth, apply on the spot, rub well, then wash with white soap at once.

THE TABLE Scrambled Eggs With Bacon—Cut four slices of bacon into dice, put in skillet, with a frying fat. Add two tablespoon flour with a little water to a smooth paste. Break into this paste four eggs; beat; into that stir two cups milk, pour over bacon and grease. While cooking fold in carefully with spoon. Will serve four.

Corn Oysters—Take one-half dozen ears of sweet corn. Shave corn off cob (canned corn will do), add one egg well beaten, a little salt, one tablespoon sweet milk and flour enough to make a stiff batter. Drop in hot grease and fry a delicate brown.

Summer Salad—Chop several cucumbers, mix with French dressing and a very small amount of finely chopped onion; cover bowl and let stand in ice box half hour or longer. When ready to serve cut chilled tomatoes in two across and arrange each half on several lettuce leaves on salad plates, place a large spoonful of the chopped cucumber on each piece of tomato and top with a spoonful of mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with slices of radishes.

Surprise Cake—Mix together one and three-quarters cups flour, one cup sugar and one teaspoon baking powder. Drop white of an egg into a cup, add butter for other shortening) to one-half fill the cup, then milk to finish. Pour into the flour mixture and beat hard three minutes. Flavor to taste.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER. Billy—Say, what do dey mean by a smoker's set? Jimmy—Dat's a cinch. It's de crowd what hangs round de cigar store.

"She seems to look upon my proposal as a sort of slapjack."

"How so?"

"Says she'll turn it over in her mind."

COURTS UNRUFFLED BY BIG AIR RAIDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, July 26.—While bombs rained in the streets nearby and a hundred guns roared at the sky during the big aeroplane raid, judges, counsel and witnesses in London courts went right along with the 'jail job' of boiling down evidence into justice.

Rose Witten, a pretty girl of seventeen, stayed in the witness box in a little louder tone to be heard above the bombs.

"You need not continue if you are frightened," said the judge to Miss Witten.

"I'm not frightened," she replied. "Let's go on with the story."

Before continuing the case the judge

tice appealed to all in the court room to "die like Englishmen" if they must die.

In Justice Darling's court the roar was deafening but court didn't adjourn for a moment. While the raid was at its worst he turned to the counsel and said: "The raid seems to be over. Let's go on with the case till they come back."

In the chancery court Justice Astbury interrupted to say: "I am told there is a raid going on. If you look out the windows you may see the aeroplanes." "Not interested," said a witness.

The Business of Living

The Mystery Surrounding Douglas F. Immore's Sudden Disappearance Now Rapidly Unfolds.

"Jack, do you remember the exact date that your father disappeared?" Jack was carrying the golf sticks over the links at Mr. Barney's side.

"What kind of a looking man was he?" Mr. Barney waved his golf stick back and forth in his hand and looked at the boy in front of him.

"No, brown. I got my red hair from my mother. Jack, I was a kid and looked up to the face of his employer. 'There is a man that belongs to your club that looks like my father. I have never seen him, but—'

"What makes you think that?" Barney looked at the boy in sudden interest.

"My mother saw this man go into the club and thought it was my father and club when my father was passing and spoke to him."

"What did he call him?" asked Barney.

"He did not use any surname; just called him George. Father always called him his double."

Barney turned and walked away across the links in deep thought before it is the boy's father that we went up to the Adirondack sanitarium," he mused.

"Did your father have anything on him the day he disappeared to identify him?" he asked at last.

"No he had worn his summer suit for the first time and mother found his notebook and letters and everything that he usually carried in his pockets in the other suit. That made it harder to find him, the detective said."

"What kind of a suit did he wear, do you remember?" was the next question.

"A light gray with darker—"

"pepper and salt, do you?" interrupted his friend.

"No, more like an invisible plaid, but you would never think of it as being plaid. The boy was earnestly trying to convey a correct impression of the clothes to his employer."

"That's the very suit. I remember remarking the dust on the arm as we picked him up," mused Mr. Barney, stalking along, forgetful of his game.

"Here is your ball, sir," remarked Jack, pointing to it.

"Bring it along Jack, I shall not finish my game today. I do not feel like golf, I have something must attend to that came to my mind as I came out here. Jack trudged along by his side in silence till they reached the machine.

"To the club rooms. Drive to the limit," he remarked to the chauffeur as he climbed into the back seat and sank down on the cushions in deep thought. Jack watched him in silence.

When they reached the club rooms and Jack started to climb out, Mr. Barney said:

"Get still, Jack. Your mother is at our house, you know. I am going to take you home with me and both of you are to stay to dinner tonight."

He sprang out and ran up the steps before it is the boy's father that we went up to the Adirondack sanitarium," he mused.

Smith drew out the chair from the stenographer's table and sat down. Like the cashiers of many little-city banks, he was only a salaried man, and the president rarely allowed him to forget the fact. None the less, his boyish gray eyes were reflecting just a shade of the militant antagonism in Mr. Watrous Dunham's when he said: "I was dining at the Country club with a friend, and I didn't go to my rooms until a few minutes ago."

The president sat back in the big mahogany swing-chair. His face, with the cold, protrusive eyes, the heavy lips, and the dewlap lower jaw, was the face of a man who shoots to kill.

"I suppose you've heard the news about Westfall?"

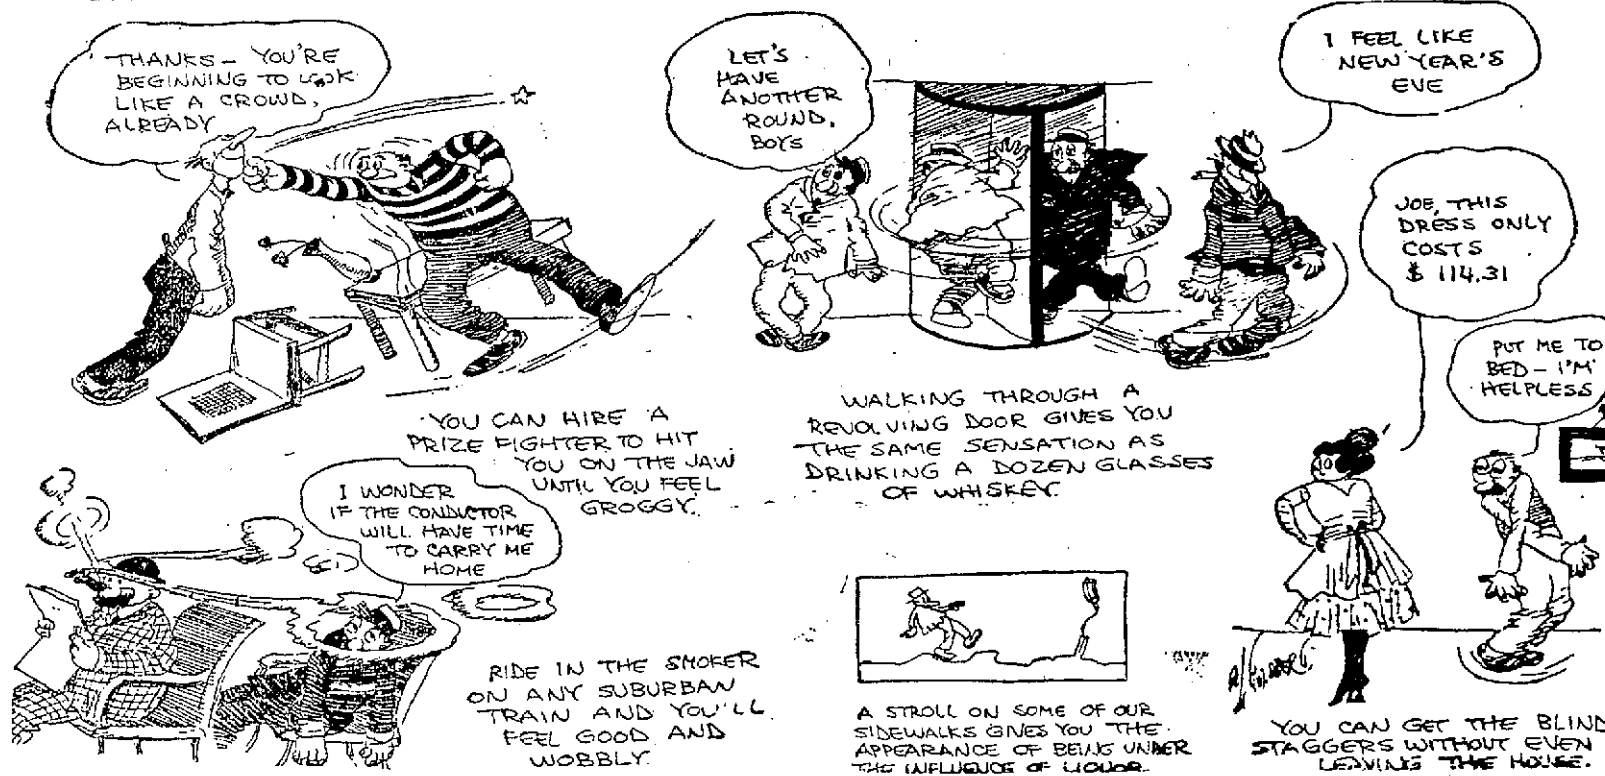

Smith nodded.

"Then you also know that the bank stands to lose a cold hundred thousand on that loan you made him?"

The young man in the stenographer's chair knew now very well why the night-watchman had been sent away. Smith saw the solid foundations of his small world—the only world he had ever known—crumbling to a threatened dissolution.

THE TRUTH ABOUT ECZEMA AND PILES

Thousands and thousands of people, says Peterson, are learning every week that one 25 cent box of Peterson's Ointment will abolish Eczema and banish piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money.

I had Eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to do it any good. I saw your ad and got one box and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a blotch on my head now, and I couldn't help but thank Peterson, for the cure is great. Mrs. Mary Hill, 420 Third Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me, besides the piles seem to have gone. A. B. Rucor, 1127 Washington Avenue, Racine, Wis.

Use Peterson's Ointment for old sores, salt rheum and all skin diseases. It banishes pimples and blackheads in less than 10 days and leaves the skin clean, clear and pleasant to look upon. Druggists guarantee it. Advertisement.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR.

They do, not because it is a fault, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made cantharix mixture. You can use this at a cost of about three cents a shampoo by getting some cantharix from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you. Advertisement.

Westfall first spoke of it," he said after he had mastered the premonitory chill of panic. "It was a bad risk—for him and for us."

"I suppose you won't deny that the loan was made while I was away in New York," was the challenging rejoinder.

"It was. But you gave your sanction before you went East."

The president twisted his chair to face the objector and brought his palm down with a smack upon the desk slide.

"No!" he stormed. "What I told you to do was to look up his collateral and you took a snap judgment and let him have the money! Westfall is your friend, and you are a stockholder in his bankrupt company. You took a chance for your own hand and put the bank in the hole. Now I'd like to ask what you are going to do about it."

Smith looked up quickly. Somewhere inside of him the carefully erected walls of use and custom were rumbling.

"I Am Not Going to Do What You Want."

in strange ruins and out of the debris another structure, formless as yet, but obstinately sturdy, was rising.

"I am not going to do what you want me to do, Mr. Dunham—step in and be your convenient scapegoat," he said wondering a little in his inner recesses how he was finding the sheer brutal want-courage to say such a thing to the president of the Lawrenceville Bank and Trust. "I suppose you have reasons of your own for wishing to shift the responsibility for this particular loss to my shoulders. But whether you have or haven't, I decline to accept it."

The president tilted his chair and locked his hands over one knee.

"It isn't a question of shifting the responsibility, Montague," he said, dropping the bullying weapon to take up another. "The loan was made in my absence. You have taken the bank's money to bolster up a failing concern in which you are a stockholder. Go to say lawyer in Lawrenceville—the best one you can find—and he'll tell you exactly where you stand."

While the big clock over the vault entrance was slowly ticking off a full half-minute the young man whose future had become so suddenly and so threateningly involved neither moved nor spoke, but his silence was no measure of the turmoil of conflicting emotions and passions that were rending him.

"I may not prove quite the easy mark that your plan seems to prefigure, Mr. Dunham," he returned at length, trying to say it calmly. "Just what are you expecting me to do?"

"Now you are talking more like a grown man," was the president's crusty admission. "You are in a pretty bad boat, Montague, and that is why I sent for you tonight."

"Well?" said the younger man.

"You can see how it will be. If I can say to the directors that you have already resigned—and if you are not where they can too easily lay hands on you—they may not care to push the charge against you. There is a train west at ten o'clock. If I were in your place, I should pack a couple of suitcases and take it. That is the only safe thing for you to do. If you need any ready money—"

It was at this point that J. Montague Smith rose up out of the stenographer's chair and buttoned his coat.

"If I need any ready money," he repeated slowly, advancing a step toward the president's desk. "That is where you gave yourself away, Mr. Dunham. You authorized that loan, and did it because you were willing to use the bank's money to put Carter Westfall in the hole so deep that he could never climb out. Now, it seems, you are willing to bribe the only dangerous witness. I don't need money badly enough to sell my good name for it. I shall stay right here in Lawrenceville and fight it out with you!"

The president turned abruptly to his desk and his hand sought the row of electric bell-pushes. With a finger resting upon the one marked "police," he said: "There isn't any room for argument, Montague. You can have one more minute in which to change your mind. If you stay, you'll begin your fight from the inside of the county jail."

Now there had been nothing in John Montague Smith's well-ordered quarter-century of boyhood, youth, and business manhood to tell him how to cope with the crude and savage emergency which he was confronting. But in the granted minute of respite something within him, a thing as primitive and elemental as the crisis with which it was called upon to grapple, shook itself awake. He stepped quickly across the intervening space and stood under the shaded desk light within arm's reach of the man in the big swing-chair.

"You have it all cut and dried, even to the setting of the police trap, haven't you?" he gritted, hardly recognizing his own voice. "You meant to hang me first and try your own case with the directors afterward. Mr. Dunham, I know you better than you think I do: you are not only a crook—you are a yellow-livered coward, as well! You don't dare to press that button!"

While he was saying it, the president had half risen, and the hand which had been hovering over the bell-pushes shot suddenly under the piled papers in the corner of the desk. When it came out it was gripping the weapon which is never very far out of reach in a bank.

Good judges on the working floor of the Lawrenceville Athletic club had said of the well-muscled young bank cashier that he did not know his own strength. It was the sight of the pistol that maddened him and put the driving force behind the smashing blow that landed upon the big man's chest. The lifted pistol dropped from Mr. Watrous Dunham's grasp and he wilted, settling back into his chair, and then slipping to the floor.

In a flash Smith knew what he had done. Once, one evening when he had been induced to put on the gloves with the Athletic club's trainer, he had contrived to plant a body blow which had sent the wiry little Irishman to the mat, gasping and fighting for the breath of life. "If ever you'll be givin' a man that heart-punch wid th' bare fist, Misther Montague, 'tis you fr th' fast train widout stoppin' to buy anny ticket—it'll be murder in the first degree," the trainer had said, when he had breath to compass the saying.

With the unheeded warning resurgent and clamoring in his ears, Smith knelt horror-stricken beside the fallen man. On the president's heavy face and in the staring eyes there was a foolish smile, as of one mildly astonished. Smith loosened the collar around the thick neck and laid his ear upon the spot where the blow had fallen. The big man's heart had stopped like a smashed clock.

Smith got upon his feet, turned off the electric light, and from mere force of habit, closed and snap-locked the president's desk. The watchman had not yet returned. Smith saw the empty chair beside the vault door as he passed it on his way to the street. The cashier's only thought was to go at once to police headquarters and give himself up. Then he remembered how carefully the trap had been set, and how impossible it would be for him to make any reasonable defense.

With one glance over his shoulder at the darkened front windows of the bank, Smith began to run, not toward the police station, but in the opposite direction—toward the railroad station. For J. Montague Smith, slipping from shadow to shadow down the scantily lighted cross street and listening momentarily for the footfalls of pursuit, a new hour had struck. It was all prodigiously incredible. The crowding sensations were, terrifying, but they were also precious, in their way. Long-forgotten bits of brutality and tyranny on Watrous Dunham's part came up to be remembered and, in this retributive aftermath, to be triumphantly crossed off as items in an account finally settled. On the Smith side the bank cashier's forebears had been plodding farmers, but old John Montague had been the village blacksmith and a soldier—a shrewd smelter in both trades. Blood will tell. Parental implantings may have much to say to the fruit of the womb, but atavism has more. Smith's jaw came up with a snap. He was no longer an indistinguishable unit in the ranks of the respectable and the well-behaved; he was a man fleeing for his life. What was done was done, and the next thing to do was to avert the consequences.

At the railroad station a few early comers for the west-bound passenger train due at ten o'clock were already gathering, and at the bidding of a certain new and militant craftiness Smith avoided the lighted waiting rooms as if they held the pestilence. A string of box cars had been pushed up from the freight-unloading platforms. Recently, and in the shadow of the cars he worked his way westward to the yard where a night switching crew was making up a train.

Keeping to the shadows, he walked back along the line of cars on the make-up track, alertly seeking his opportunity. Halfway down the length of the train he found what he was looking for: a box car with its sidderock hinged but not locked. With a bit of stick to lengthen his reach, he unfettered the hump, and at the switching crew's addition of another car to the

"make-up" he took advantage of the noise made by the jangling crash and slid the door. Then he ascertained by groping into the dark interior that the car was empty. With a foot on the tross-rod he climbed in, and at the next coupling crash closed the door. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Dinner Stories

"How do you like married life?" "Fine! Jus' fine!" replied the bride.

"And is your husband a good provider?" "He suitin' am, ma'am," declared the bride. "He suitin' am. Dis week he got me to new places to wash at."

Mabel—My dearest Olga, I could not rest until I had come and made an effort to dispel the gloomy thoughts which, to judge from your letter yesterday, threatened to develop into suicidal mania. This true Alfred has jilted you—the wretch! Still, try and act like a sensible girl and look out for another engagement."

Olga—Your advice comes too late, darling.

"Good gracious, Olga! You surely haven't taken poison?" "Well n—no; the fact is, I—I became engaged again yesterday."

"There will be no more trials for lese majeste in Russia," said Ivan Shinsky, editor of the Novoe Vremya, in a lecture in Chicago.

"Lese majeste anyway always seemed to me ridiculous. It always reminded me of the policeman who was asked:

"Officer, what's the charge against this prisoner?" "Impersonating a policeman, eh?" "Impersonating a policeman, eh?" "Yes, your honor. He held up his hand and stopped an automobile, instead of letting it run over him." A witness in describing an event said:

"The person I saw at the head of the stairs was a man with one eye named Wilkins."

"What was the name of the other eye?" spitefully asked the opposing counsel.

DELAVAN

Delavan, July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Phoenix left early in the week for New York to take an extended trip through the east.

Roland Harwood is suffering from a case of blood-poisoning on his face caused by burns from acid from electric batteries which are used at the condenser where he was employed. Word was received here this afternoon that Bert Conklin had broken his leg while assisting his brother, James Conklin, at his work in haying on the latter's farm in East Delavan. It is expected that Mr. Conklin was brought to his home later by Dr. Chas. Wright, who set the fracture.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Moser were over from Sharon this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden were here from Birmingham, Alabama, to visit Mrs. Gerard Hall.

Dr. E. J. Holmes left this week for duty as a physician in the army, expecting to be called to France.

The new dummy police were installed at the corners of Third and Second streets yesterday to avoid collisions on those corners.

Mrs. Bert Barthoff visited her son and wife in East Troy the last of the week, returning home on Sunday.

Hayes Zilhart has accepted a position in a garage in Clinton and has gone there to live.

H. Dinges was a Milwaukee caller this week.

Charles Webster and wife of Mt. Morris, Ill., spent Sunday at his parents' home. They came with Mrs. Webster's parents, A. Neustrum and wife of Tonawanda, Wis., who drove here in their auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moser have given up their apartment in the Corray house and stored their household goods, while Mr. Moser is disabled from his recent accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freitag were Milwaukee visitors over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bean were obliged to move from the Corray house, the same being sold. They moved into the Shoemaker house on North Eighth street today.

C. W. Hall returned on Monday from his former home in Michigan. Mr. Hall, who is foreman of the Bradley dry goods store, is enjoying a vacation.

Mrs. Elsie Jones of Union Grove, spent the first of the week with her mother, Mrs. Fiddler.

Hale Foster, an early day resident of Walworth county, passed away Saturday, July 21, at his home in Fairmont, Minn. Mr. Foster was for many years a resident of Elkhorn. His wife, who survives him, is a sister of Mrs. F. Goodspeed of Elkhorn.

Mark Holbrook and wife spent the latter part of last week at Mrs. George Minshall's.

An accident at the Al. Ball farm in East Delavan occurred Monday in which Jim Corti received some severe bruises in a fall from a scaffold.

NOTICE—Gazette is on sale at Rustad's Drug Store, opposite the Post Office.

WANT BADGER LUMBERJACKS FOR FRANCES REHABILITATION.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Merrill, Wis., July 26.—Wisconsin is asked to contribute 103 experienced lumbermen toward the rehabilitation of France.

Lumberjacks of the northern counties have received an appeal to make up a regiment of "jacks" to go to France and aid in getting her forests into use on the firing lines. Perhaps "Sammies" need shelter and railroads, bridges and rolling stock must be produced to handle supplies.

The Sunday Milwaukee Journal is the Best Sunday Newspaper Circulating in Wisconsin

The Latest News
The Ablest Writers
The Greatest Features

All contribute to the superiority of The Sunday Milwaukee Journal. Whatever your tastes, regardless of whether you read a paper for the war news, political discussions, financial page or any other department, The Sunday Journal should be your choice.

First in News Service

The Sunday Journal leases two private wires direct from New York, over which it receives the telegraphic news of New York's greatest newspapers. This, with the United Press Service, its own special service, and its own staff of news gatherers, results in a Sunday newspaper that is unequalled by any other Sunday newspaper, no matter where published.

The Home Edition
Is Printed at 2:30 A. M., Sunday

Janesville people get the same news that is served to Milwaukee readers of The Sunday Journal. After the Sunday newspapers of Chicago have gone to press Saturday night with their "Wisconsin editions," the private wires of The Journal are humming with news that will not reach you until Monday in the Chicago newspapers. The Home edition of The Sunday Journal is printed HOURS after the Chicago newspapers have gone to press.

FULLY DESCRIBED

When you read the wants on this page, you will feel most interested in those that fully describe the proposition. The Classified Ad that sells most is the Classified Ad that tells most.

If a man offers a farm for sale, doesn't the buyer want to know how many acres there are, where the farm is situated, what buildings there are on it and such particulars? If a used automobile is advertised for sale, doesn't the man who wants to buy one appreciate specific information about the condition of it, whether it has a self-starter or not, and what accessories go with it?

The average Classified Ad reader hasn't time to investigate any proposition that doesn't give some particulars which interest him. Remember this, when you prepare your Classified Ad for The Gazette; a Gazette Classified Ad Taker will help you with it.

Feeding Three Meals Daily to 9,000 Men Is Easy Job at Great Lakes Training Camp

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Great Lakes, Ill., July 28.—Three times a day 500 men at the United States Penitentiary, Joliet, engage in a spirited combat with beef steaks that are called "hair-soles," potatoes that are called "bush-balls," and butter that is called "grease," and perhaps a piece of bread and a can of condensed soup in a mess hall, of which there are 100,000 inmates.

The young fellow from St. Paul was on voracious appetite and a coward on the first day of his confinement, so that finally he could make no impression on the "hair-soles," and he was finally grabbed it in his fists and chewed at it. Then he demanded a "hair-sole" and a "bush-ball," which later a visitor learned that he meant coffee.

There are more than 200 men to wait on the hungry bluebeaks and the jail are about thirty on the station; resembles nothing as much as a college town. The boys are, for the most part, intelligent, as are college boys; the bluejackets get as much amusement out of their daily meals as athletes at a training camp.

There is a vast horde of hungry "boys" is no small task and their healthy outdoor life demands that they must be fed and fed well. The commissary is under the direction of Chief Commissary Steward Graver. The bluejacket who is unable to eat his share at mess has only to be fed by the commissary. It is estimated that the food necessary for a single meal on the average day is about as follows: Seven thousand pounds of roast beef, 10,000 pounds of mutton, 10,000 potatoes, 500 quarts of gravy, 1,500 radishes, 4,000 tomatoes, 1,000 pounds of green peas, 400 gallons of ice cream, 100 gallons of milk.

It is usually avoided if possible. However, the boys of the station tell every man in training much of his turn, week about, with the exception of some, however, who are kept on the fatigue duty as a punishment. The water is heated in kettles and jumpers and their clothing must be spotless. Their movements are punctuated by the ringing of a bell, and the time when it is time to cut the bread, big loaves which weigh a pound each; to send and get the butter, the meat, the apples, the grapes and the fruit.

After the meal is served they multiply the dishes in antiseptic solution and wash them with steam, clean the tables, and wash the floors with disinfectant and dry the floor and unload carboys of foodstuffs for the cooks in the galley.

At the mess tables conversation is so free that it is indicated that the chief

3,000 pounds of coffee, 3,000 loaves of bread, and about 100,000 quarts of coffee. It was in the big mess hall to the west of the station that a speaker recently sat and watched the boys file in for the noon meal. Everyone soon had his plate cleaned. Even does begin.

TOBACCO DEALERS OFFER
BIG PRICES; SEE BIG CROP

Edgerton, Wisconsin, July 26.—Tobacco buyers continue to ride the country and the prices paid the grower is the highest ever paid. Some Union Prairie farmers report sales as high as 23c and 10c. Several crops are being sold at about 15c to 17c in the vicinity of this city instances where 10c and 7c. The corn is being sold at about 15c to 17c straight, the dealer takes all risk of damage, and the crop is to be stripped.

High Prairie farmers report sales as high as 15c for the bushels of corn in the vicinity of this city were sold for 10c and 7c. In some instances where the farmer sold at about 15c to 17c straight, the dealer takes the loss and the crop is not to be shipped all together. Every available auto mobile in this vicinity is busy carrying tobacco buyers. The crop in the past week has been under favorable conditions, developed wonderfully and with good weather and a favorable harvest season in Wisconsin will have a banner year for tobacco.
